1. Background of CACH in South Sudan

Since its foundation in 1901, CACH has consistently supported the most vulnerable populations worldwide. Our goal is to end poverty – everywhere and for all. CACH is a politically and denominationally independent organization, and one of the best-known NGOs in Switzerland, with a yearly turnover of around 120 million CHF.

Caritas Switzerland has been engaged in South Sudan for over 50 years. The Country office in Torit has been established in 2006 and recently a coordination office in Juba has been set up. Projects are either self-implemented and/ or implemented through local partner organizations.

2. Background of the PEACEFUL Project

The project “Promoting Ecosystems and Communities for Enhanced Livelihoods through Understanding and Learning” (called the PEACEFUL project) is a 2-year Triple Nexus project implemented by a consortium formed by CACH in South Sudan (lead) in cooperation with the national partners OFAO, Caritas Yei, Caritas Torit and JPC Torit. The project’s overall objective is to improve the livelihoods and resilience of returnees and host communities through increased food security as a result of improved agricultural production and more sustainable management and governance of natural resources, through alternative income opportunities, and through nonviolent conflict resolution and GBV prevention. The project locations are eight bomas in Eastern Equatoria State (EES) in the three payams Imurok Payam, Magwi Central Payam and Iwire Payam and four bomas in Central Equatoria State (CES) in the two payams Yei Payam and Otego Payam.

The strategic outcomes of the project are as follows:

Outcome 1 (Humanitarian): Through improved agricultural and NRM practices, communities (with focus on returnees and host communities) can meet their immediate needs, increase food production and sustain long-term food security.

Outcome 2 (Development): With the support of loans and VSLAs, communities adopt sustainable and profitable income-generating activities.

Outcome 3 (Peace): Local authorities, leaders and communities improve GBV and conflict prevention measures and apply non-violent conflict resolution practices regarding NRM.

3. Goal of the Assignment

a. Overall goal of the Midterm evaluation

The purpose of the Midterm evaluation is to monitor changes on the project's output, outcome, and impact levels compared to the existing baseline data. The baseline data will be annexed. The Midterm evaluation study aims to inform and guide the project's implementation as well as generate transferable learning for the consortium and a wider audience including local authorities and other policy makers.

b. Specific objectives of the Midterm evaluation

The specific objectives of the Midterm evaluation include the following aspects:

- i. To establish the midterm values of the log frame indicators on impact, outcome, and output level in accordance with the project's log frame through quantitative and qualitative research and data collection. The mid-term evaluation will give an opportunity to note any changes in the initial assumptions. There might be need to adapt changes in order to attain the desired results based on the information which the mid-term evaluation provides. The use of qualitative data collection methods is strongly encouraged, e.g. focus group discussions with beneficiaries and local structures
- ii. To provide context information about the project's relevant thematic areas in the project area through qualitative interviews (e.g., FGD, KII). Key focus areas / questions are listed below (the list is to be reviewed with the selected tenderer before the start of the baseline study):
  - a. Analyse the needs, challenges and opportunities of the community with a focus on relations and potential conflicts along social structures and dynamics in the communities such as ethnicity, displacement, gender, access to resources and services, vulnerability to climate extremes, and other locally prevailing forms of differences and power asymmetries
  - b. Include gender-specific questions to provide insight and better understanding about the needs, gendered roles and obstacles to / opportunities for engagement, specifically among returnee women and girls
  - c. Analyze the positives of the linkages between the development, humanitarian and peace components in arising conflicts
  - d. Further key questions / key focus areas to be defined.
  - e. Include how the existing feedback/complaint mechanism is helpful in the project areas and what improvements to the system are required.
- iii. Assessing whether the anticipated three components of the project (Humanitarian, Peace and Development) mutually reinforce each other's outcome and creating the desired impact

4. Study Methodology

Overall, the methodology presented as part of the technical proposal should cover details of the study design and approaches, sampling strategy, sampling size, data collection and analysis methods, and aspects of quality assurance / ethical considerations (see below). The study should include approaches that are sensitive to the inclusion of all targeted groups and capable of generating disaggregated data. Therefore, it is expected that the selection criteria for the qualitative data collection (e.g. FGD, KII) are clearly described in the methodology chapter. The following ethical considerations need to be adhered to during the Midterm evaluation:

- Recognize personal dignity and rights of the individual participants and the study population in general
- Quantitative data will be obtained from a randomly selected representative sample group
- Informed consent will be sought prior to commencing data gathering and interviews. Assure that participation in the survey is voluntary and that participants can opt out at any time and/ or choose not to answer any question. The replies will not affect the standing of the participants with the implementing organizations
- Anonymity, confidentiality and safeguarding of survey data is guaranteed
- There will be no risks and benefits for individual participants
- The culture, norms and traditions of study populations will be respected.
- Views and opinions of the different survey participants will be respected.

The project staff of Caritas Switzerland as well as the implementing partner organizations shall be closely involved in the implementation of the Midterm evaluation to ensure that learnings about the target context are understood and taken up by the project team. This involvement can include, for instance (but is not limited to), giving feedback on elaborated survey tools, participating in trainings for enumerators, reviewing draft reports, etc.

5. Indicative Materials to Review

Relevant documents to review include the project proposal (see excerpt of the ProDoc in annex; full project proposal will be shared with selected tenderer), the logframe with baseline data (see annex), the MEAL plan (finalized version will be shared with the selected tenderer), information of the selected target groups (will be provided before contract awarding), the data collection tools from the Midterm evaluation and project reports of the implemented activities so far.

6. Deliverables and workplan

The consultant shall propose a detailed and feasible workplan within the stipulated timeframe to deliver the Midterm evaluation across the project locations in Imurok Payam, Magwi Central Payam and Iwire Payam (EES) and Yei Payam and Otego Payam (CES). The aim is that the data collection in the project location is finalized in the month of September.

The main body of the Midterm report (draft and final version) must be limited to 15 pages (excluding annexes). More specifically the following shall be expected to be delivered:

Before the start of the data collection:

- a) Midterm evaluation inception report including midterm evaluation study plan, detailed research design including sampling strategy, data collection and analyses methods, key roles and responsibilities, data quality assurance, (including relevant underlying values and assumptions/theories) with a justification of the selections made (e.g. of persons to be interviewed). etc.
- b) Feedback meeting on Midterm evaluation inception report

- c) Final inception report including CACH and implementing partner's comments/ feedback

During and after data collection:

- d) Updates during data collection to monitor the progress of the survey after data collection

- e) Draft midterm report containing at least the following elements:

Table of Contents

Executive summary (very brief, max. 1 page)

Introduction/Background (very brief, max. 1 page)

Objectives

Methodology

Results

Limitations

Conclusion and Recommendations

- f) Feedback meeting on draft baseline report

- g) Final midterm evaluation report approved by the project consortium stakeholders in electronic copy. Additionally, the final data collection tools and the clean data sets, transcriptions, and meta data (electronic) are required to be shared too.

The consultant(s) should propose a timeline outlining when key activities and deliverables will be completed and how many working days are required.

10. Potential risks

The highest risk associated with the study are delays during the data collection due to heavy rains and/or unpassable roads. As this is out of our control, there is not much we can do to mitigate the risk. There is also the risk of insecurity that might impede access to selected sampled areas. In order to mitigate this risk, the consultant can design alternative data collection tools if such a situation occurs.

CACH will provide a security briefing for the selected consultant(s) before the travels to the project areas.
